

A close-up photograph of a white poinsettia flower. The flower has large, broad, white bracts that are slightly wavy at the edges. In the center of the flower is a cluster of small, green, unopened buds. The background is dark and out of focus.

Genesis 18:03 And said, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy sight, pass not away, I pray thee,
from thy servant: