

Genesis 48:16 The Angel which redeemed me from all evil, bless the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac; and let them grow into a multitude in the midst of the earth.

A close-up photograph of several butterflies resting on smooth, light-colored rocks. Three large orange butterflies with black markings are prominent in the upper half, while a smaller dark butterfly with white spots is in the lower half. The background shows more rocks and some green foliage.