

A close-up photograph of a diverse bouquet of flowers. In the foreground, several large pink gerberas with prominent yellow centers are in sharp focus. To their right, a cluster of bright yellow daffodils with six petals each is visible. The background is filled with a variety of other flowers, including small purple pansies and blue forget-me-nots, all set against a backdrop of lush green foliage. The lighting is soft, highlighting the textures and colors of the petals.
