

A close-up photograph of a stone mortar, likely made of granite or a similar hard stone, partially submerged in water. Water is being poured into the mortar from above, creating a dynamic splash that erupts from the rim. The water is clear, showing many small bubbles and droplets. The mortar itself has a rough, textured surface with some visible veins. The background consists of dark, wet rocks, suggesting a natural outdoor setting like a stream or a garden. The lighting is bright, highlighting the textures of the stone and the movement of the water.

1st Samuel 19:06 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul sware, As the LORD liveth, he shall not be slain.