

A photograph of a butterfly with black and white wings resting on a green plant with serrated leaves. The background is dark and out of focus, showing more foliage and soil. The text is overlaid in white, serif font.

2nd Kings 18:24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?