

A close-up photograph of a lush garden bed. The foreground is dominated by large, trumpet-shaped flowers in bright yellow and deep purple. Interspersed among these are several white daisies with delicate petals. In the lower-left corner, there is a dense cluster of tiny, white, star-shaped flowers. The background is filled with more of these colorful blooms, creating a rich, textured scene. The lighting is bright, highlighting the various colors and textures of the petals and leaves.
