

A close-up photograph of several pink flowers, likely gerberas, with soft, layered petals. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some showing the center where the stamens are. The background is a blurred mix of pink and green, suggesting more foliage.

Job 19:02 How long will ye vex my soul, and break me in pieces with words?