

A photograph of a garden scene. In the foreground, there are several large, vibrant red roses with green leaves. Behind them is a black metal fence with vertical bars. In the background, a green lawn and some distant buildings are visible. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.

Psalms 111:10 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do his commandments : his praise endureth for ever.