

Proverbs 05:17 Let them be only thine own, and not strangers' with thee.

A close-up photograph of a vibrant red rose with yellow-orange variegation on its petals, set against a background of green leaves and other roses. The rose is the central focus, with its petals tightly curled in the center and more loosely arranged towards the edges. The background is a soft-focus green, with other roses visible in the lower left and upper right corners.
