

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of pink flowers, likely roses, with vibrant green foliage in the background. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some showing deep pink petals and others as buds. The greenery consists of fine, needle-like leaves, possibly from a cypress or similar plant, which are densely packed and provide a rich, textured backdrop for the flowers. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate textures of the petals and the sharp points of the green leaves.

Proverbs 25:06 Put not forth thysself in the presence of the king, and stand not in the place of great men :