

A close-up photograph of a pink poinsettia plant. The image shows several large, vibrant pink bracts (often mistaken for petals) with prominent green veins. Interspersed among the pink bracts are several green, serrated leaves. In the center of the plant, a cluster of small, developing flower buds is visible. The background is dark and out of focus, making the plant stand out.

Daniel 10:01 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a thing was revealed unto Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar; and the thing was true, but the time appointed was long: and he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.