

A close-up photograph of a white flower, possibly a gladiolus, with a small black insect (likely a fly or beetle) on its center. The flower's petals are white with prominent yellow-green veins radiating from the center. The background is dark and out of focus.

Hosea 10:03 For now they shall say,
We have no king, because we feared not the LORD; what then should a king do to us?
