

The image features two large, deep red roses in full bloom. The rose on the left is in sharp focus, showing the intricate layering of its petals. The rose on the right is slightly out of focus. The background consists of a grey metal fence and some green foliage, all blurred to create a soft, bokeh effect. The text is overlaid in a white, serif font, centered across the upper half of the image.

Matthew 10:32 Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven.