

A close-up photograph of a pink rose, with its petals layered and slightly curled. Several small, clear water droplets are visible on the surface of the petals, particularly on the left side. The background is dark and out of focus.

John 18:19 The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.