

A large, layered rock formation, possibly a sea stack or a natural rock arch, stands prominently on a rocky, pebbly shore. The rock has distinct horizontal layers of different colors, including grey, brown, and tan. The background features a clear blue sky with scattered white clouds and a line of green evergreen trees. The foreground is a wide expanse of grey and brown pebbles and small rocks.

Acts 27:12 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, the more part advised to depart thence also, if by any means they might attain to Phenice, and there to winter; which is an haven of Crete, and lieth toward the south west and north west.